

The Ode "To Washington"

"To Washington, to Washington, we pledge our hearts and souls.

The growth of mind and spirit, the highest of our goals,

To find life's greener pathways, we reach out o'er the land,

To Washington, to Washington, the leader and the grand.

We save our pride and honor for you o'er all the rest,

To Washington, to Washington, the school we love the best.

The challenges and trials, the joys you give us, too,

Oh, Washington; oh Washington; forever we'll be true.

We'll keep the memory of these days so deep within us dear,

In all that is to come our way you always shall be near.

Though laughing in the sunlight, crying in the rain,

The guiding moments of these times shall bring us back again."
